4-H Clubs Observe March 3-11 "Making The Best Better"

I PLEDGE: My head to clearer thinking... My heart to greater loyalty... My hands to larger service and... my health to better living for my club, the 4-H club, my community and my country.

These are the principles by which the 4-H (Head-Heart-Hands Health) Clubs of America live by and their motto is "TO MAKE THE BEST BETTER."

Governor Allan Shivers has called attention to the scope and activities of the State's 4-H club organization through a special proclamation, in which the week of March 3-11 is proclaimed 4-H Club Week in Texts.

This organization provides voluntary training for boys and girls between the ages of 9-21, not only in agriculture and home economics, but in preparation for better citizenship. For more than four decades the state of Texas has profited from the 4-H club training given its young people.

This voluntary youth program has a nationwide enrollment of more than two million and 42 countries now have organized 4-H clubs.

As agriculture is important to the welfare of Texas, so better agricultural and home economics practices and more highly trained leaders are important to the future of our state, the governor proclaimed the week of March 3-11 as 4-H Club Week.

County Judge Charlie Smith joined with the proclamation by the Governor and urged all citizens of Milam County to participate in its observance.

In Milam County there are clubs now at Thorndale, San Gabriel, Davilla, Sharp, Buckholts Marek, Burlington, Maysfield, Milano, Gause and Rockdale. In Cameron the group is affiliated as a County Group.

Activity on the local level has been curtailed this year during the special week because of the press of the Houston Fat Stock Show, the Chamber of Commerce Broiler Contest and the lack of personnel in the Agriculture Agents office to encourage the youngsters at this time.

There are about 285 boys and girls affiliated with 4-H in Milam County. The club passed its 100th. birthdate two years ago.

The 4-H Prayer is: Help me, O Lord, to live so that the world may be a little better, because Thou didst make me. Amen.

Calendar, Sun, Trees Point To Spring In First Grade Window

"Robin, Robin in the tree, sing a little song to me" is an admonition on the background art in the Herald Window this week placed there by Mrs. Mary Lawrence and Mrs. Jimmie Barr showing the work of the First Graders in their study of the seasons of the year.

Fall: the children explain is the time to get ready for winter..... Winter is sleeping time.. Spring takes over the larger share of the display and denoted by birds adroitly drawn by the crayons of the little ones and singing from the limbs of barren trees. Sumpoint out.

The display, points out the teachers, is to show the public how closely the work in the primary grades is integrated.

The children in Y and Z of the first grade have been watching for the signs of spring. They have read science books. Their language lessons, both oral and written, have been centered around their observations.

The art work has pictured seasonal changes. They have learned several songs about spring.

Number stories have also centered around this theme.

The calendar shows us spring will soon be here.

The sun shows us spring will soon be here.

The trees show us spring will soon be here.

A little ditty goes: Peep. said the little bird, Peep said he. Here is a leaf and a little brown tree.

All Saints Lenten Service Tonight Hears Rev. Tucker

Reverend Jim Tucker, recently a missionary to Nigeria and now of the Church of the Good Shepherd in Austin will hold the regular Lenten mid-week service at All Saints Episcopal Church Thursday (tonight) at 8 p.m.

Bo Peeps

Had anticipated talking politics this week because after talking to Mr. A. N. Green could see some of the REAL needs of Cameron.. Don't count Mr. Green out of the running until AFTER the Saturday deadline After becoming so all-fired important what with three column headlines in the Houston Post Tuesday I've forgotten all about mere local politics but am now considering Vice President. I don't believe Ike is exactly satisfied with Nixon. Oh well Truman got there that way. I don't really want to be President though....there's no room for advancement then.

Carroll Green felt like a movie star last week riding with Roy Rogers in Houston. I think we can get him in the movies. Dean

Cameron's Salt Grass Riders Lead 1800 'Hands' To Houston

Salt Grass riders from Cameron became a little more "Salty" this year and expect to ride again next year the trail from Brenham to Houston.

Leading riders this year were the Cameron riders under boss Carroll Green and they all felt like movie stars when upon reaching Spring Branch near Houston they were joined by the famous Roy Rogers and Sons Of The Pioneers for the remainder of their journey to the downtown Houston parade.

The equine entourage and their human burdens travelled by highway part of the way and cross-country part of the way. 1800 people began the trip in Brenham and between 1450 and 1500 finished the ride.

A number of Cameron people went along for the ride just for a "spell" and returned home. The modern day "softies" proved to be the stock rather than the people. About 35 or 40 of the animals died on the trip. There were no mishaps in the Cameron group.

The Cameronites who went and who intend to go again next year are Wagon Boss Carroll Green, Coleman Duncum, assistant wagon boss, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hickman, Carl Fikes, Harold Van DeWeghe, Aubry Hightower, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Jenness, Buddy Shipp, Mary Belle Batte, Johnnie Graham. Carroll Green Jr., Walter Mays Jr., and Charles Bailey.

The one or two day "dudes" were Rev. E. J. Davis, Dr. Lyle McDermott, C. O. Angell, William C. Day, Petie Graham and Ferrol Angell.

The Cameron cook was Mrs. Carl Fikes.

The Salt Grass Trail, along which tens of thousands of cattle were driven to the coast for winter grazing by pioneer Texans, came to life on February 19.

Seventeen persons made the first ride in 1952 memorializing these early day riders and pointing up the great cattle industry which helped develop Texas and at the same time focus attention on the Houston Fat Stock Show and Rodeo.

Itinerary after leaving Brenham was lunch at 12 noon in Hempstead. Leave at 2:30 arrive Waller at 4:30 and spend night at A. W. Schild's place leave 8 a.m. on Feb. 20 Arrive C. M. LITTLE RIVE RPHILOSOPHER LOOKS AT ANOTHER SOLUTION TO FARM ILLS. AND FINDS IT WON'T WORK EITHER.

Editor's note: The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Little River has turned his thoughts to the farm problem this week, without affecting the problem one way or the other.

Dear editar:

I read an editorial in a newspaper the other day which fell out of a car as it rounded a curve out near my house which said the reason we have a farm problem is simple: we have too much land.

Now I'll admit this is a new explanation and while I have never run into a farmer yet who thought he had too much land, if it was paid for, I think Congress ought to be informed of it. The writer said we just have too many acres, and it shouldn't take Congress long to figure out the way to whip that situation is to double the size of an acre and cut the problem half in two.

But not only did this editorial writer say we have too much land he said we've also got too many farmers, and he added that the solution to the whole problem was to cut down on both.

Now I can see how it might be possible to cut down on the number of farmers, just lower prices a little more, but when it comes to cutting down on the amount of land we've got, that editorial writer is going to have to sharpen his pencil.

It's my theory that as long as there's any land to farm, somebody will farm it, the same as it's true that just as long as there's any gossip to repeat, somebody will repeat it. There's something about a piece of un-farmed land that sweeps a man off his feet. It doesn't make any difference how many people before have gone busted on it, there's always somebody else willing to give it a turn. As I've always said, there never was a piece of land some farmer wasn't willing to farm, or a woman some man wasn't willing to marry.

Therefore, they'll have to attack the farm problem from some other angle. What angle that'll be is not for me to say. That's Congress' job. Us farmers only make the problems. it's up to Congress to solve em. This is known as separation of powers, guaranteed under the Constitution.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

First Ten Days Are Hardest For Turkey Poults

Turkey producers who end the first 10 days of the brooding period with close to 100 percent of their poults are on the way to a successful season. Ben Wormeli, extension poultry husbandman, says about two-thirds of the poult losses during the early brooding period can be traced to management factors and the balance to specific diseases.

Chilling, overheating and crowding can cause high death losses but starve-outs generally do the most damage. Wormeli says this condition exists when poults do not get started on feed and water. Losses begin on the third or fourth day and continue through the first week. The specialist says part of the cause may come from poor lighting. Poults do not have well developed vision during the first week of life. A 150 watt light placed six feet above the floor and over each brooder and kept on for 14 hours a day will help attract them to the feed and water.

Poults will eat litter and this results in a condition similar to starve-outs, impacted gizzard and intestinal tract. To prevent this trouble, cover the entire brooder area for the first week with clean feed sacks or a rough textured building paper.

The litter in the brooder house should be four inches deep. clean, free from mold and low in dust. Since poults sleep with their heads on the litter. mold can be inhaled and result in lung and air sack troubles. Dust can cause eye trouble.

Starting temperature should be 98 degrees two inches above the floor at the edge of the brooder hover. This temperature can be gradually reduced above five degrees a week until the poults no longer need heat. Up to 300 poults can be started with each brooder stove. Wormeli says a brooder guards wooven wire in warm weather and cardboard or sheet iron in cold weather, should be placed three or four feet from the edge of the hover during the first week. Confines the poults to the heated area and helps them get started properly on their feed and water. Allow one square foot of space for each poult during the first three weeks, two inches of feeder space and four one gallon water fountains for each 100 poults.

Has not God borne with you these years? Be ye tolerant to others.

Lt. Commander Head Of Dallas Recruiting Here

Lt. Commander Zavodny, Naval Recruiting officer in charge of the Dallas District was in Cameron Thursday and reported everything in the local recruiting office "Shipshape".

The officer of eighteen years in the service and still under 40 said that it takes the towns and communities the country over the size of Cameron to hold up the recruitment program for the country. He stated that the larger cities are "tough" to get volunteers from and he further assured that Cameron' station under Chief machinists mate George D. Johnson and Chief Charles W. Wofford is well above the average and is one of the districts most productive stations.

"The guided missle within a few years will obsolete the airplane for protection of our country," said the Lt. Commander.

On the subject of recruits the Commander said that a minority cruise, which is less than the standard four year cruise, can be shipped on by boys from 17 to 18. These can come out at age 21.

A High School graduate with a qualifying score on the test given in Cameron of 45 percent can be guaranteed the school he wants. The local test merely qualifies the under-graduate to APPLY for enlistment in Dallas. The Dallas office has a different test which is more illustrated and mechanical than the test on the local level where the tests are more text or literary in nature.

Joyce Kilmer Would Not Like This-Kill Trees Say Experts

Worthless trees rob Texas farmers of thousands of dollars each year.

Trees, more deeply rooted than other plants, take a larger portion of yearly rainfall than do cash crops such as cotton, corn, grain, sorghum, or grass. G. O. Hoffman extension range specialist, says, a mesquite tree requires about 2000 pounds of water to produce one pound of leaves and bark, but only 800 pounds is required to produce a pound of cotton and about 600 pounds to produce a pound of grass.

Trees along a fence row increase the difficulty of fence maintenance, prevents the farmer from plowing close to the fence and, if thorny, cause flat tires. A single tree would offer greater wildlife protection if it were cut and piled so wildlife could get under the brush, says Hoffman.

A mesquite tree 10 inches in diameter and 20 feet tall can keep cotton and grain sorghum from growing on 7,650 square feet of land or one-sixth of an acre. It costs the farmer about $9.10 in reduced yields to maintain this tree for one year.

To stop this loss of vital soil moisture and nutrients, a one qt. mixture of 2,4,5,-T and 10 gallons of oil should be sprayed around the base of the tree, says Hoffman. This mixture costs about 40 cents a gallon. while cost of labor and chemicals amounts to about three cents a tree. If oaks and other hardwoods are to be treated such as one quart of 2.4,5,-T to 6 gallons of oil. Such a mixture will cost about 63 cents a gallon.

Methods of treating trees include the frill, cut-off stump, and trunk base. In the frill method, the 2,4,5,-T solution is applied to the ax cuts of the frill. For cut-off stumps the solution is appied next to the bark allowing some to run down the outside bark channels.

The trunk-base method is used on trees having diameter under six inches. The solution is applied to the lower 12 inches of the tree, running down the bark channels. and coming into contact with the bud zone. Using these methods, one gallon will treat about 25 to 40 trees.

Best time for application, says Hoffman, is during the winter months. December through March too many sprouts result if the tree is sprayed when it begins to leaf out. A top kill will probably result at this time, allowing the tree to put out again during the next growing season.

Ask the local county agent for Bulletin 800 and Leaflet 127, for more information.

New Selection Test For WAC Now Used

Word has been received from the U.S. Army Recruiting Main Station in Dallas of a New Armed Forces Women's Selection Test which will be used form now on in the mental screening of all woman applying for enlistment in the Women's Army Corps. The purpose of the test is to determine the quickness of mental response.

"A high school graduate who has been above average in her studies should not have any difficulty in attaining the required score on this test," said Lieutenant Sondra Olson of the Wac Procurement Office, "and since the Women's Army Corps is enlisting a relatively small number of young women every month, we are taking only the finest on the many eligibles who apply. However, we are interested in knowing how many young women in this area can pass this particular test, and for that reason, we will be very happy to administer it without obligation to any single young woman between 18 and 35 who is interested."

Young women from this area who would like the opportunity to see if they can qualify may contact their local army recruiter for further information.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to all of our friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness extended during the illness and at the death of our beloved daughter and sister, Elsie Kaatz.

We especially want to thank Mrs. Annie Galler for her kind service, and the doctors and nurses at Scott and White hospital, Rev. Pietsch for his comforting message, Marek and Burns funeral directors and those who served as Pallbearers. May God bless each of you is our prayer.

Speaking of Greens Mrs. Carroll Sr. told of her grandchild Bill Perrin wanting garden tools and carrott seeds for his birthday last Saturday. Said he wanted to feed the bunnies well so he would get a lot of EASTER EGGS.

The CAMERON CRUSADE FOR CHRIST is off to a bang... with the Cameron churches going after converts the MODERN WAY ...That's publicity both paid for and FREE...When they chose a publicity man they DIDN'T draw straws or GUESS. They picked a BAPTIST. Rev. C. H. Morris, of the First Christian told me this one. He told of a vast enlargement program proposed by Texas Christian University. He remarked, upon finding no publicity of it in the papers "Do you know what Baylor Universiy would have done if such a thing had happened there?" It would have had NATIONAL publicity the very next MORNING. "Let your light shine before men". Yes the Baptists have a biblical authority even for their publicity.

A nephew poured the dogs feed out on the PORCH. He didn't know there was milk in the bottom. A good offense is better than a defense any time. He scolded his mother. "Why didn't you put the milk on TOP so I'd have known it was in there?" Sounded pretty reasonable to me. Why didn't she?

There is a pretty earring in the office found by Mrs. Edwin Kurtz. If someone has the mate to it would like them to bring it in. They can't have any use of one ear ring. It was found in front of the Citizens National Bank.

Moore and Dixie Walker, Gause; A. G. Kirkland, Minerva.

Floyd Stark, of Buckholts, presided at the annual meeting until the board of directors and officers for the new year were named Stark had been serving as acting chairman for the chapter since the resignation a few months ago of Jack Prescott. Stark had been treasurer of the chapter.

Miss Mary Carouthers, of the St. Louis Red Cross headquarters office, outlined the status of the local chapter and told of the advantages of a Red Cross Chapter in Milam county. She also told of mandatory and permissive program of the organization.

Richard Moseley, of Cameron, served as acting secretary.

Stark told the group that the Red Cross played an important part in Milam county and had been of untold benefit. He pointed to the fact that the national organization sent a check for over $10,000 to Milam county for disaster relief when the tornado struck in Gause and Salty communities. "The campaign fund drives have not been reaching their quotas the past few years and the chapter has not been functioning properly," Stark said as he expressed the hope the new chapter would give the Red Cross the recognition it deserves.

Take Off The Brake

By Dr. Alfred P. Heake

He turned the button and the motor began to whir. He slid the transmission lever into driving position. The motor gasped and died.

"What the —!" he exclaimed.

"That's the second time that blank motor has gone dead on me."

He started the motor again and shifted into driving position. Once more the motor struggled, strained, gasped and died.

"Well. I'll be —!" ejaculated the man, now thoroughly mad.

"You should be," said his wife quietly, pointing below the instrument board, "Why don't you try taking off the brake?"

Movements and men, with tremendous capacity for power and improvement, are often held back denied their utmost usefulness because some foolish pride or refusal with all the tenacity of an automobile brake.

A father and his 12-year old son sat in the Police Chief's office. The boy had been caught in malicious mischief in a building under construction. It was not his first offense, and the Chief was explaining to the father the seriousness of what the boy did and had been doing. Suddenly the father broke in rudely. "Oh, can the chatter! How much?" The boy joined his father's sneer at the Chief.

Small wonder that the boy bragged to his playmates that he could get by with anything, because his father was rich and would pay for it.

I had a letter a few days ago, excoriating me for denouncing the Girl Scouts organization as well as the League of Women Voters, and working against the cause for world peace. It was a pretty large order, considering that what I had done was to point out two unfortunate actions by persons in those organizations. I praised the Scouts for correcting the error of their leaders, and suggested that the offending League of Women Voters leader look in a different place for the menace she saw to world peace.

I suggested that both organizations should protect themselves against the mistakes of leaders who did not really represent the rank and file of the organizations. But, the moment I did that I was hailed as an enemy of the organizations.

An alumna of a famous school for women wrote to her fellow alumnae calling attention to the presence of several persons of doubtful loyalty to American principles among the faculty members, and suggested that contributions be withheld until the college administration had given an explanation of those persons on the faculty. She was suggesting a need for correcting a situation because she loved the school and did not want to see it become an instrument for harm to her country. But, instead of supporting her proposal, it is alleged, the great majority of the responses were antagonistic. Alumnae looked upon her effort as a vicious attack on the college and they greatly increased their donations to the school. They could not conceive that anything could ever be wrong with their beloved Alma Mater.

Many a brat is developed into a criminal because his doting parents refuse to recognize signs of danger and correct their beloved and budding monstrosity while there is still time. He could have been made into a fine citizen had his parents not refused to see anything wrong in him.

Organizations sometimes fall into mistaken or biased leadership. One is not necessarily opposed to the organization or does not necessarily seek to destroy it, because he seeks to reveal and correct errors that could lead to the terrible misuse or even destruction of the organization.

Prejudice, bias, blind loyalty, refusal to see error in anything we love or in which we take pride, may constitute a serious barrier to improvement of the person or organization. Truth may hurt, but error hurts more. Let's take off the brake.

This year, the Law Enforcement Conference has been combined with the Texas Traffic Courts Conference. On Tuesday, delegates to the Attorney Geral's meeting are similarly invited to attend sessions of the traffic meeting. On Wednesday, separate meetings of the two conferences will be held.

George Washington Was A Cattleman

FEW AMERICANS today think of George Washington as a cattleman and yet Washington's diaries, according to the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, are sprinkled with references to the famous Mount Vernon farmer's cattle. Washington provided his cattle with the simple initials "GW".

Man was created alone for the sake of peace among men that one might not say to his fellow: 'My father was greater than thine'.

Game Wardens Are Seeking Delinquent Ducks In Airplanes

As demure as the fall crop of debutantes, sojourning wild ducks are creating more than the ordinary amount of curiosity during the current wintering season in Texas. And the mystery of their whereabouts has not yet been sloved, reports the Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

Here's the way he summed up the situation: "The unusually heavy concentration of ducks found along the Gulf Coast in October could not be located in November, December and January counts. Waterfowl which should have arrived in November and December did not show up in any concentrations along the coast which is a favorite rendezvous for Central Flyway birds."

Since accurate winter time population surveys are indispensable to spring migration estimates, technicians have been using airplanes to try to locate the game birds in remote places. On the ground deep south Texas game wardens have been beating the back country trails in search of possible unlocated concentrations.

Meanwhile, the Executive Secretary said some waterfowl authorities have speculated that some new flight patterns may have been created during the later stages of last fall's migration which have not yet been charted.

Worth of Bugs And Worms Worry Internal Revenooers

Sometimes officials of the Internal Revenue Service feel that somebody is pulling their legs. This feeling springs from some of the weird questions presented by taxpayers.

In Oklahoma the district office was requested to provide the procedure for figuring depreciation on a $500 investment in a worm ranch. In California a similar query sought specific detail in behalf of a farmer who had allegedly purchased $200 worth of ladybugs to combat aphids. Somewhat uncertainly perhaps inquirers were told they would have to take a physical inventory and claim death loss only.

Panhandle Fish Spot Gets A Lift

Rotenone will be added to a popular Panhandle fishing spot this spring in an effort to remove rough fish so that game fish species may be restored in sufficient numbers for the heavy angling traffic.

Rotonone is a chemical which, when mixed with water of a lake or stream, temporarily immobilizes fish by paralyzing their breathing apparatus. If returned to fresh water, they survive. Thus game fish usually are retrieved from the treated zone and released in fresh water while the rough fish either are salvaged for edible fish or permitted to perish and their carcasses used for fertilizer or some such.

The Executive Secretary, announcing the project, said that Buffalo Lake, in the Panhandle has been described as ideal for bass ,bream and channel catfish, but that carp, buffalo and other undesirable species have overrun the area.

Farm Records Money Savers Population Loss

Farm records have been referred to by a farm management specialist of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service as the eyes and ears of the farm business. They reflect, said C. H. Bates the specialist, how the business is doing and may prevent many costly management or expansion mistakes.

On the average farm the investment per worker totals about $15,000. Investments in land, machinery, livestock and other essentials needed for agricultural production makes the present day farmer a capitalist of considerable means. His investments are often larger than those of many urban businesses. Our highly competitive commercial farming, said Bates, makes record keeping mandatory as a protection for our investments.

Too, records make the job of completing the yearly tax report much simpler and can save money, expense items which are not recorded often are over-looked or forgotten at tax paying time and for every $5.00 item missed, the average taxpayer paid $1.25 in taxes he didn't owe, said Bates. Even the cost of a good farm record book is deductible as a legitimate operating expense.

Farm families, said the specialist, who have improved the efficiency of their farming operations have found records to be the key to their success. They have taken the guess-work out of their business.

Many types of record books are available but Bates called Attention to the revised Texas Farm Record Book which is now available for a small change. This book is designed to aid farmers not only in keeping a complete record of the farm but also for making tax and social security reporting easier. Local county extension agents can supply details on how and where the books may be obtained.

Amendments Made In Selective Service Induction Regulations

Advance notice of some of the new amendments to Selective Service regulations was received by the Milam County Draft Board office on Monday of this week. the most important change involves the order of priority in which I-A men will be selected for induction. There will be no order of priority for preinduction physical examination of I-A registrants, except that these men will continue to be ordered in accordance with birthdate, the oldest selected first. Within that group of examined and acceptable registrants will priority be considered when ordering men to fill an induction call.

The new change provides that men with children, who have been examined and found to be acceptable, will not be ordered for induction until delinquents over 19, volunteers under 26, nonvolunteers without children over 19 and under 26 have been ordered for induction. After the supply of examined and acceptable men in these groups, including men with children, has been exhausted, then nonvolunteers over 26 first, and second, nonvolunteers over 18½ but under 19 will be selected. In each instance. men will be ordered in accordance with birthdate, the oldest first.

Another important change involves delinquents. Under the new procedure, delinquency may only be declared or removed by local board action. Upon declaring a registrant delinquent, he will be notified by official notice that such action has been taken and the reasons for his delinquency. By so doing, the registrant may take steps to dissolve the reason for his delinquency, but he may be removed from such status only by local board vote.

Social Security Recipients Must File Reports

Social security beneficiaries under age 72 during any part of 1955 whose earnings from active employment and-or self-employment exceed $1200 for the taxable year, must file an annual report with the Social Security Administration accoring to James B. Marley, District Manager of the Austin Social Security Office.

These reports must be filed with in 2 months and 15 days after the close of the taxable year. That date is March 15, 1956, for those who file their tax returns on a calendar year basis. This should not be confused with the income tax return deadline which is April 15th. Those who file their returns on a fiscal year basis must file their annual reports within the end of their taxable year.

In those cases where a beneficiary has a taxabl e year of less than 12 months, being caused by death or by a taxable year change approved by the Director of Internal Revenue, an annual report is required if the earnings from active employment and-or self employment exceed $100 times the number of months in such short taxable year.

Annual Report forms will be mailed to those beneficiaries who told the Social Security Administration that they expected to earn more than $1200 in 1955. Failure to receive a report form does not relieve an individual beneficiary of his obligation to make a timely report if his earnings exceed the $1200. The law provides penalties for failure to file within the time limit. Forms will be available at your Social Security Administration District Office.

Mr. Marley pointed out that the 1954 Amendments to the Social Security Act provide that all earnings, including those fro mexcluded professions as well as earnings from covered employment. will be counted in determining whether or not the $1200 has been exceeded.

Clergy Must Recind S. S. Applications, If Desired By April 16

Clergymen who have applied for coverage in the social security system, but who now wish to withdraw their applications, must take steps before April 16 to avoid being included on its rolls, officials of the Internal Revenue Service said today.

Requests have been receive dby the Internal Revenue Service for advice whether any such individual is permitted to withdraw a For m2031 previously filed by him Form 2031 previously filed by him

It is the position of the Service that a minister, a member of a religious order, or a Christian Science practitioner may withdraw his Waiver Certificate, Form 2031, by filing a written notice of withdrawal with the district with whom the Form 2031 was filed. The written notice, however, must be filed by the individual on or before the due date (including any extension thereof) for filing his income tax return for the first taxable year for which the election on Form 2031 was to be effective. Thus, if a minister, a member of a religious order, or a Christian Science practitioner previously filed a Form 2031 to be effective for the calendar year 1955 and now desires its withdrawal he must file his written notice of withdrawal with the district director on or before the due date of his income tax return for 1955 (April 15, 1956) or of any extension thereof. If such written notice is not filed within the time specified, the election on Form 2031 becomes effective and is, thereafter, irrevocable.

Washington Said To Have Enjoyed Last Birthday Best

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY, FEBRUARY 22, IS OBSERVED AS A LEGAL HOLIDAY but few pause to think of whether George Washington enjoyed his own birthdays. Records seem to show that George Washington enjoyed his last birthday -his 67th - as much as any in his lifetime. It was on that day that his beloved adopted daughter, Nellie Custis, was married at Mount Vernon to his nephew, Lawrence Lewis.

Enjoy this exciting

Hawaiian Luau

Right in your own home!

Whether you go "all-out Hawaiian" with a complete luau, or choose to serve only one or two of these exotic, delicious foods ...we think we can promise you some real food-fun! Your luau—traditional feast of happy Hawaiian Islanders — will reflect the mood of the Islands: white sand beaches, rolling surf, sighing palm trees. And you'll serve a feast that friends will talk about for weeks!

You can do it at so little cost, with so little fuss! We planned it that way as we gathered all the information, menus, recipes and foods...enabling you to enjoy your version of a colorful luau...right in your own home. (Many of these Hawaiian touches will add variety to your everyday meals, too!) Come in today. We're here to help you make it perfect.

Easy to Create Hawaiian Mood

The foods you serve at your luau are bound to be a success in themselves. You can heighten the Island feeling with a few "native" touches. Instead of using a table, simply roll out straw matting on the floor—or use a colorful tablecloth. Decorate this "beach" with ferns, flowers, and tropical fruits. Keep some Hawaiian music playing in the background. You're on the beach at Waikiki—your luau is under way!
